

Lesson 2

► Who wants a fruit smoothie?

This fruit smoothie is so delicious! It's made with strawberries and bananas. Because bananas are my favorite fruit, I like banana smoothies best. So, what is your favorite fruit?

Hi everyone and welcome to English with JT. In this lesson we talk about fruit smoothies and we cover new vocabulary for fruit. We also learn some basic grammar for asking questions.

Why are smoothies so popular? Because smoothies are easy to make. They are nutritious and delicious. A fruit smoothie helps us enjoy fruit even more.

Where can we buy a smoothie? Smoothies are typically sold at a juice stand. We often find a juice stand in a shopping mall. Of course, we can also enjoy smoothies at home. We just need fresh or frozen fruit and a blender.

What fruit is best for making a smoothie? Any fruit is great in a smoothie. Some people say berry fruit smoothies are good for your skin. What types of berry fruits can we think of? Well, we have: blueberry, raspberry, blackberry and strawberry.

What about a melon smoothie like watermelon and cantaloupe? Why is a melon smoothie best on a hot summer day? Because melon fruits contain a lot of water to keep us hydrated.

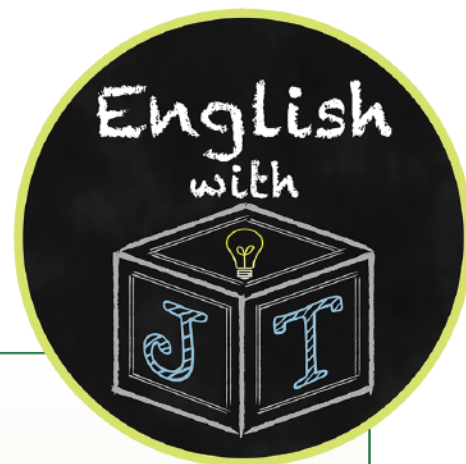

Perhaps the sweetest smoothies are made with tropical fruit, like: banana, pineapple, mango and papaya.

Who likes tropical fruit best? I know I do.

So, when do you like to drink smoothies? I think the best time to drink a smoothie is in the morning. I like to drink a smoothie at breakfast.

Lesson 2

► Grammar: question words Five Ws

Let's take a moment now for some grammar about questions.

- What color is a banana?
- Why are lemons really sour?

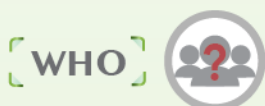

What are some words we use to ask questions?

Today I want to teach you five of these words.

who what when where why

You might notice all of these words begin with a W.

We call these words the Five Ws.

[WHO]

We use "who" to ask about people.

- Who likes strawberries?

[WHAT]

We use "what" to find information about things.

- What is the price of a bag of apples?

[WHEN]

"When" talks about time.

- When is the best season to grow watermelon?

[WHERE]

The word "where" is about places and locations.

- Where can I buy a smoothie?

[WHY]

"Why" is used if you want somebody to explain the reason for something.

- Why are cherries most expensive in the winter?

We usually answer why questions with "because".

- Why is a fruit smoothie so sweet?

Because fruits contain a lot of sugar.

When you learn about the Five Ws, you might also hear about the word "how".

- How heavy is that watermelon?
- How many different fruits are in your smoothie?

There are actually many different ways we can ask how questions.

So, allow me to tell you about "how" in our next lesson.
